Hopping on a moving freight train was a dangerous act, but in the 30s hundreds of thousands of men and women did it. Used by permission: Saskatchewan Interactive. Click for Web site.

According to the astronomical definition of the seasons, the summer solstice also marks the beginning of summer which is the longest day of the year and happens between June 20th and June 24th. The midsummer eve is celebrated in many cultures with beliefs that this special night is meant to ward off evil spirits and witches, while others were thought to give a person magical powers.
